Important Information and Advice

Please keep this as a resource to use at home.

At school the internet is mostly used to support teaching and learning. However, at home it is sometimes used differently. Not only is it a study resource for students, but it is increasingly being used as a social space to meet, play and chat.

If you have the internet at home, encourage your child to show you what they are doing online. If not, see if you can make a time to visit the school to see their work and how the school uses the Internet.

Bullying, stranger danger, gossip, and telling the wrong people personal information, have long been issues for young people growing up. These are all behaviours which now present online. These are not 'virtual' issues. They are real and can harm and hurt.

At home we recommend you:

- Make some time to visit with your child to find out how they are using the internet and who else is involved in any online activities.
- Ask them to give you a tour of their 'space' if they are using a site which allows them to chat, publish photos play games, etc.
- Have the computer with Internet access set up in a shared place in the house – not your child's bedroom.
- Negotiate appropriate times for your child's online activities and use of mobile phones.
- Check your child's devices for VPN apps. These allow your child to bypass filters and allows them free access to inappropriate material/games.
- Ask questions when your child shows you what they are doing:
 - How does it work, how do you set it up and can you block out people?
 - Who else is sharing this space or game – did you know them before or 'meet' them online and what do you know about them?
 - Why is this so enjoyable – what makes it fun?
 - Can you see any risks or dangers in the activity – what would you say to warn/inform a younger child who was going to start to use the space?
 - What are you doing to protect yourself or your friends from these potential dangers?
 - When would you inform an adult about an incident that has happened online that concerns you?

We appreciate some families purchase smart watches or internet enabled wearables, please ensure that students enable 'do not disturb/student mode' and do NOT communicate via messaging during school hours. Please discuss this with your child before allowing them to wear devices to school.
